

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention is a training halter for dogs having either regular elongated muzzles or brachiocephalic (short nosed) muzzles. This dog training device replaces collars of all types, and uses pressure on top of the dog's muzzle guiding him instead of dragging or hurting him. The trainer simply turns the 5 dog's head in the direction he/she wishes to go and the dog follows. This training device is used in conjunction with humane and positive training methods, utilizing communication techniques instead of force.

005736408-121500